The quantity of tea imported from each foreign country, irrespective of the country of production, during the year ended June 30, 1878, was as followsc Countries. China, including Hong-Kong Japan The United Kingdom (England, Scotland, and Ireland) British East Indies Netherlands Provinces of Nova Scotia, New Brunswick, and Prince Edward Island. Provinces of Quebec, Ontario, Manitoba, and the Northwest Territory. Dutch East Indies Hawaiian Islands Newfoundland and Labrador Belgium Argentine Republic Germany British West Indies and British Honduras France Total 65,366,704 100.00 Of the total value of imports of tea, there was imported from China 58.63 per cent, and from Japan 36.62 per cent. The value of imports of tea from these tea-producing countries, constituted 95.25 per cent, of the total value of such imports. The remaining 4.75 per cent., imported from the other countries named in the table, constituted an indirect trade between China and Japan and the United States. In this connection, it may be of interest to advert to the fact that there is a larger annual importation of tea into the United Kingdom than into any other country, and that there is a larger importation of coffee into the United States, than into any other country. From official statistics, it appears that the consumption...
